One Step Beyond

Propel your LTC degree into a whole new dimension

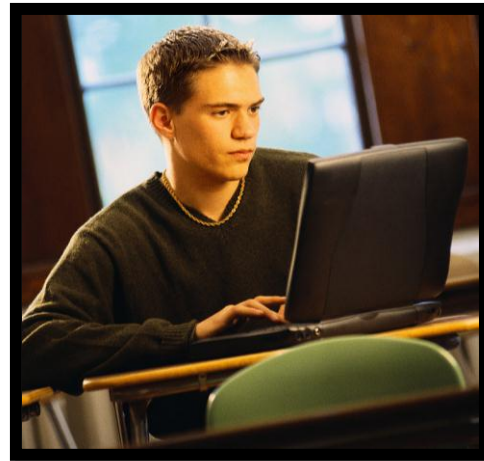

For many who step onto LTC's campus, the two years they spend on their associate degree are just the first half of their college education plans. They know that starting at LTC—and then transferring their credits to a four-year college—is a great way to save money, stay close to home, and continue their education.

With more than 35 four-year colleges that accept LTC credits, LTC grads have a wide range of options when it comes to building their associate degree into a bachelor's degree. Learn more about colleges that are ready and waiting to help LTC grads expand on their education inside.
